Imagine the plight of the school nurse who received a letter from a pupil's mother, asking her what could be done about Johnny's nose. "It gets so red and runs so much," the mother added, "that we expect that he has senile trouble."

NEWSPAPER SCOOPED VERDICT WHILE THE JURY WAS STILL OUT

Incident in "Front Page Woman" Recalls 'Scoop' of Harry Thaw Trial

When a jury is "out" in a big murder trial, deliberating on the guilt or innocence of a defendant, daily newspapers frequently report that the jurors stand 3 to 4 for conviction, or 2 to 3 for acquittal, or something of the sort. How do the reporters find out those things?

Ah! That's a trade secret, which is not going to be revealed here! But some sensational "exclusives" have been sprung by alert reporters who have found ways and means of picking up such information.

A new angle on this sort of thing develops in the Warner Bros. comedy-drama, "Front Page Woman," which co-stars Bette Davis and George Brent and which will be shown on Sunday and Monday at the Prince theatre in Pahokee.

Although the two are in love with each other, they are keen competitors in newspaper work. Bette, a co-sister and George, an ace reporter. A famous murder trial is part of the plot. Even while the jury is taken to the hotel for the night—manages to get into the deliberation-room, and finds slips of paper on which the jurors had written "Guilty." He telephones to his paper a prediction that the defendant will be convicted.

Then, to fool Bette, he makes up some false slips marked "Not Guilty."

They went to the trouble of interviewing before the trial every one of the couple of hundred talesmen—from among whose ranks the jurors would be selected—and getting as many as possible of them to agree to give a signal every hour from the fourth-story window of the courthouse, the window being visible from the street below.

If guilty was the verdict, the signaler was to scratch his head with his right hand. If not guilty, he was to use his left hand. As it turned out, one of the friendly talesmen was selected as a juror. But when he appeared at the window, after hours of deliberation, he didn't give either of the agreed-upon signals.

He made a sweeping crosswise motion with both hands, such as a juror might make when they indicate the bout has resulted in a draw. The reporters down in the street understood this to mean "neither side wins," and the paper came out with headlines stating that the jury had failed to agree. That was the fact. The tally was 10 to 2 for conviction. Thaw on a second trial was found not guilty by reason of insanity.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Farmington, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Curofil, I was better. I kept taking Curofil and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Curofil to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right. I am very satisfied with it. If it does not benefit you, consult a physician."

Just How Big Is The Telephone Company

THE Southern Bell Company is only as big as the people of Florida and the South have required it to be.

More than a million and a half people of this great State would not be satisfied with or properly served by a company of furnishing the high type of dependable, nation-wide service now required.

The telephone service needs of the people of Florida are large and it necessarily requires a large institution to do this big job. More than 14,000,000 local and long distance calls are made monthly in Florida, and the responsibility for the continuous operation of a service of such importance is large.

To operate, maintain and expand this intricate system requires a small army of more than 4,300 workers, whose annual payroll is nearly $1,500,000.

Because of its size the telephone industry is also one of the largest contributors to the support of the State and its subdivisions by the payment of taxes. Its tax bill in Florida for 1934 amounted to more than $422,000, not including federal tax.

The telephone company of necessity is also a large user of raw materials, and spends large sums of money in Florida for the products of the State.

Florida is a big, important State, requiring a telephone company large enough to insure continuous, adequate and dependable telephone service—a service not limited by State lines, but world-wide in its scope.

A telephone company, smaller in size and resources could not render such a service and would not be capable of serving the people of Florida satisfactorily.

RURAL COMMON SENSE
By Spuds Johnson

DAIRYING FORGES
AHEAD BUT EFFORT

Florida's milk supply ranks in quality among the five highest in the nation. Production per cow among dairy herds has doubled since 1920.

These two significant facts were brought recently by the National Bureau, extension service dairy specialist, to show the progress that has been made in the Florida dairy industry in recent years.

Dairymen have shown fine cooperation with federal, state and municipal officials in efforts to eliminate cattle disease, to build their herds and thereby make them profitable by introducing purebred blood into them, and to accomplish other improvements which will insure a rich, healthy, and dependable milk supply for Florida's consumers, Mr. Brown explains.

As a result of an intensive culling program, Florida is now an accredited tuberculosis-free state. The task of eliminating the "hook" fever tick from Florida has marched steadily forward until now there is only a very small number of ticks left in the state, which is not of this pest.

Florida dairymen are now co-operating with federal and state governments in the program to eliminate Bang's disease among cattle. Testing for Bang's disease among Florida cattle began in September, 1934, and 20,000 dairy cows tested in five years in the state, have already been tested.

Indicative of the remarkable progress that has been made in this campaign is the fact that only 13,000 of Georgia's dairy cattle, or one-nineteenth of all in that state, have been tested during the same period of time. The percentage of cows tested in Florida for Bang's disease will probably exceed that of any other state by September 1, 1935.

Since the tick has been eradicated from most of the counties of the state, the health of the registered dairy cows and heifers have been shipped into Florida from other states.

Much progress has been made in improving pastures, cultivating forage crops, and fertilizing soils for winter feeding purposes. Dairymen are continually on the lookout for ticks and other pests, for they know that these are unprofitable and that the sooner they are sold for food, the better chance the dairies have of making profits.

This was on a public highway, but covered somewhat rough country comprising many hills and turns."

RURAL BOYS AND GIRLS
HAVE SET UP A SERVICE TO COMMUNITY

Agricultural extension work, as conducted by county and home demonstration agents under the direction of the State Agricultural Extension Service and the United States Department of Agriculture, is 21 years old in this country, having been officially begun in 1914.

During that 21 years the work with rural boys and girls, who have been organized into 4-H clubs, has become increasingly important.

The boys and girls, in their 4-H work, have conducted demonstrations which have shown better ways of doing things on the farm and in the home. They have been the means of bringing progress in agriculture and home life to their communities. Their influence has been felt and appreciated everywhere.

Now they are growing in usefulness, ability, and importance in the community. They are serving their communities in diverse and efficient manners. Service has become their goal, and they are making progress on the way to that goal.

On her return from the National club camp held in Washington, D. C., during June, Miss Nellie Berry of Alachua county, one of Florida's representatives at the camp, stated that various phases of service were the centers of discussion for the boys and girls at the camp.

Among the forms of community service reported as being done by 4-H club members were such things as directing recreation for other groups of the community, helping to operate relief canning centers, making clothes for the needy, carrying baskets to older and more needy people, securing books for the library, beautifying church and school grounds, and similar tasks.

These 4-H club members are thinking less of themselves and more of others. They are helping to solidify community spirit, to make progressive communities, and to make life more pleasant and worthwhile.
